Island namesake's was Bill, not Conrad

Back in 1663, an English explorer and sailor by the name of Captain William Hilton, was surveying real estate for some Barbadian planters. He came upon a “fayre and fitte place,” an island paradise the Yemassee Indians had known for centuries. The captain “discovered” a headland on this island and used it to identify the entrance to Port Royal Sound. It’s just around the bend from where you’re sitting in Hilton Head Plantation. As was the custom those days, Bill named the headland after himself, and the name stuck. The famed hotelier, Conrad Hilton, learned about the island much later.

Three Years, Three Restaurant Floods

Hudson's suffered three floods in as many years, greatly affecting the restaurant and local community. The first flood happened in October of 2015. As flood waters from Columbia and Charleston were draining out of the Edisto River, a series of king tides caused by a blood moon were occurring. A blood moon is a lunar event that causes abnormally high tides. The combination of the flood waters, the high tides, and strong winds blowing inland resulted in tides upwards of 12 feet. The outcome was two feet of water in the front and back dining rooms overnight. The restaurant still opened for a late lunch the following day as the tide receded.

The second flood occurred due to the effects of Hurricane Matthew in October 2016. The damage was considerable. The waters flooded the entire restaurant, demolished the dock and gift shop, and destroyed most of the kitchen equipment. With the help of 70 members of the staff, the restaurant was miraculously reopened three weeks later, two full months ahead of schedule. The deck, dock, and packing house were damaged beyond repair and were rebuilt. The project was completed in late February 2018.

The third flood was due to the effects of Hurricane Irma in September 2017. The entire restaurant was submerged in three feet of water, and while the new deck weathered the storm, some of the same repairs were once again repeated. This time around, the laminate floors were replaced with concrete. Again, servers, bartenders, fisherman, managers, cooks, and chefs completed much of the work required to get the restaurant opened. The restaurant remained closed for only two weeks. Needless to say, we are all hoping for a very uneventful hurricane season in 2019!

How to find Hudson's

1 Hudson Rd. Just off of Squire Pope Rd., overlooking the Intracoastal Waterway.

Driving directions

From South Island – take Cross Island Parkway (toll). Exit at Gum Tree Rd., go straight through the light onto Gumtree Rd. Follow to traffic circle, then right on Squire Pope Rd. Hudson's is the first left.

From Palmetto Dunes and North – take Hwy. 278 business North, then right onto Gumtree Rd. Follow to the end, then right onto Squire Pope Rd. Hudson's is the first left.

From Bluffton – take Hwy. 278 business South over bridge to Hilton Head, then left at the first traffic light onto Squire Pope Rd. Follow to the traffic circle, and take the second exit out of circle. Hudson's is the first left.

Brian Carmines Pursued as Puppynapper

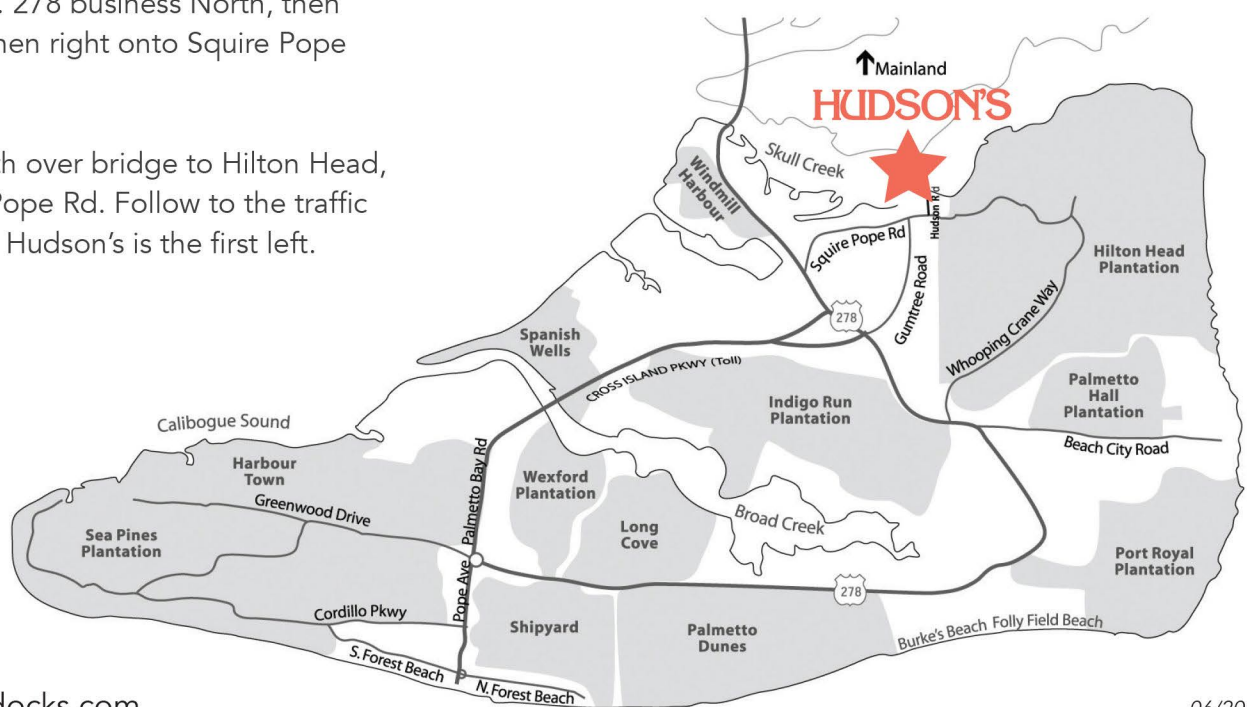

Many years ago, a rumor persisted that a restaurant in Calabash, North Carolina was home to the finest hushpuppies. The rumor caught the attention of Brian Carmines, owner-extraordinaire of Hudson's Restaurant. One wintery day, Brian and his father traveled to this small coastal restaurant in hopes of obtaining the famous recipe. Although the consumption of whiskey cannot be confirmed during negotiations, success is obviously apparent as Hudson's now owns the most famous trademark known to the island. These "habit-forming" hushpuppies are bite-sized cornbread that are light, round, and oniony. No dipping sauce required.

7 Day Slaw

Hudson's 7 Day Slaw – our own recipe – is very popular and always good with seafood! This slaw is called “7 Day” because it is vinegar-based and made without mayonnaise. It will easily stay fresh for a week.

- 1 head cabbage
- 1 sweet onion
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 cup oil
- 1 cup apple cider vinegar
- 1/2 tbsp yellow mustard
- Salt and pepper to taste

Slice cabbage and onions thinly or shred them and toss with sugar. Mix remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. Pour boiling mixture over cabbage, let set five minutes, then mix. Chill in refrigerator and serve on leaves of romaine. Serves 8-12.

Native island employees immortalized on canvas

Easter McKnight shucked oysters, picked crab, and peeled shrimp for Hudson's since she was a young girl. Working alongside her mother, she labored throughout the year handling the freshest seafood. She never missed a day of work in her 67 years of service. She retired at the age of 81 in 1996. She passed away on August 10, 1998. A commissioned oil portrait of McKnight hangs in the front dining room.

Eddie Bryan gathered oysters for Hudson's for over 60 years. From September to April, Bryan toiled through weather and tides to bring local cluster oysters straight to the restaurant. He was once a longshoreman and a truck driver, but he found his calling picking oysters six days a week, reserving Sundays "to give thanks to the Lord on that day." He and his wife of 53 years had 10 children. He retired in 1990 and passed away in 2001. A commissioned oil portrait of Bryan hangs in the front dining room.

Who is Ms. Bessie?

Ms. Bessie is our most loyal veteran on our staff. She was here since 1974 and has performed every job imaginable. Most notably she has been making our desserts for over 30 years. Her service to this restaurant and our guests is a testament to her hard work. Yes, all of our luscious desserts are available at retail. Ask your server for more information.

WELCOME TO HUDSON'S

Hudson's Seafood House on the Docks has humble beginnings deeply rooted in fresh seafood and family tradition. Hudson's has a special connection and long history with the people of Hilton Head Island, and that profound relationship also extends to the Lowcountry Community, fisherman, and shrimpers. We have always been a family-owned business, and in the 1920s, it's primary purpose was to process seafood. Native islanders rowed oar-powered boats called bateaux and gathered thousands of local oysters into Hudson's. The oysters were shucked at Hudson's, sent by barges to the Northeast, and the shells discarded and distributed around the property, creating the very peninsula and foundation of the restaurant. Hudson's is literally a business built on oysters!

We are committed to having much of our seafood caught and purchased from our local waters. We support local fisherman, shrimpers, and crabbers to provide the freshest local seafood to our guests. Over 3,000 gallons of oysters and 100,000 pounds of shrimp are consumed annually. Over 450,000 raw oysters are freshly shucked on the premises. We farm and harvest our very own local oysters, cultivate fresh soft-shell crabs, harvest stone crab claws, and harvest fresh local white shrimp. Our family of chefs, fisherman, shrimpers and restaurant staff welcome your family to have a great local experience on our waterfront dock.

Shell Ring Oyster Company: A Responsible Bivalve Achievement

In keeping with Hudson's tradition of only the freshest seafood, Andrew Carmines established the Shell Ring Oyster Company in 2013. Shell Ring is a sustainable oyster farm in Port Royal Sound located off of Pinckney Island. Harvested in January and February during the cold winter months, these select oysters are incredibly salty and wonderfully fresh. Shell Ring also harvests wild oysters daily during the season. If you are eating a local oyster at Hudson's, chances are we picked them. These oysters are often harvested, shucked, and eaten in the same day—absolutely the freshest oysters anywhere in the world! If you are a fan of bivalves, you will, without a doubt, appreciate the fruits of our labor.

The Venerable J.B. Hudson, Sr.

Built in 1912, the original oyster factory was purchased by J.B. Hudson, Sr. He started a thriving family business that became a local landmark and tradition. If you have eaten in the back dining room at Hudson's, you are standing on the same spot where oysters were shucked in the 1920s. In 1955 his son J.B. Hudson, Jr. added locally caught fresh shrimp to the operation, and in 1967, Hudson's evolved into a restaurant with a capacity of 95 seats. The restaurant was then bought by Brian and Gloria Carmines. They were originally from Long Island, NY and moved to Atlanta, GA before purchasing Hudson's in 1975. A new family tradition was born: Brian worked as the chef for the first six months, while the rest of the family took orders, cleared tables, and served the best local seafood in the Lowcountry. Today, Hudson's seats over 345 people and serves the island's finest seafood to more than a 1,000 guests on a typical summer night.

Why Buy Local Seafood?

Local seafood is more difficult to source, more expensive, and costly to peel, fillet, shuck, etc. We know it's worth it. Our guests enjoy the freshest seafood anywhere, and the health benefits cannot be overstated. Our seafood is not processed in a facility; therefore, it is free from preservatives, sulfites, nitrates, phosphates, hormones, antibiotics and other chemicals. It is 100% organic and natural. You came to the right place.

Those Are Real Shrimp Boats!

Hudson's is the only restaurant on Hilton Head Island that has a working fleet of shrimp boats. Jeff and Skip Toomer are third generation shrimpers, and they dock here at the restaurant to deliver the freshest locally caught shrimp. You might be lucky and see the process as you dine on the dock. Our local shrimp are sweet-tasting, succulent, and downright delicious. Yes, Hudson's pays a little more for the good stuff, but it's worth every penny. A good catch will bring in a haul of over a 1,000 pounds of shrimp.
